STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Mr. Fred S. Odjin, of Lewiston, a lumber surveyor, who has been at work in Stark, N. H., this winter, fell off a log and received a severe strain, a few days ago.

At the civil term of the Lewiston Municipal Court, Friday morning, five foreign-born citizens were naturalized.

Mr. J. W. Varney, of Lewiston, sold one of his light bay pair of horses to Pompilly & Ryerson, of Auburn, Friday, for about $300.

Eight or ten newsboys failed to come to the captain's office with the money received from the sale of papers. The police looked them up, and drew on the boys' parents for the cash. One boy had retained several dollars. Four boys named Walsh, Haley, Leader and Johnson confessed the thieving.—Lewiston Journal.

Last fall the Lewiston police received a message from the Brunswick police requesting them to arrest one Milton Edwards, who was wanted for the larceny of a suit of clothes. Friday afternoon, Deputy Marshal Metcalf saw Milton Edwards, according to the description. He claims his name is Ephraim Edwards, and that he is a brother to Milton. The Brunswick people have been notified, and the officers are waiting to hear from them.

On their way home Thursday evening, about ten o'clock, Officers Hegarty and A. J. Hinckley saw two men drawing a handsled on Bleachery Hill. On the sled was a mysterious-looking bag. The men ran at the approach of the policemen, and abandoned the sled and its freight. Two five-gallon kegs of whiskey were found in the bug and were seized. The officers recognized one of the fellows who run off, as Lawrence Ryan. Later in the evening Ryan was arrested at his house. He was arraigned in the police court, Friday morning, on the charge of transporting liquor, and was fined $30 and costs. He appealed.—Lewiston Journal.

Cumberland.

Friday morning, Mr. M. M. Moulton, of Scarboro', saw the notice of a dead body found, in his morning paper, and thinking the description answered that of his brother, visited the city tomb and identified the remains as those of his brother, E. G. Moulton, resident 21 Sterling street, Boston. Deceased came to Portland on the Boston steamer, Saturday, and visited his brother in Scarboro'. He left Scarboro' Tuesday. The brother suspected nothing out of the way in him, and supposed that he was going back to his home. Mr. Moulton, was in comfortable circumstances, and if his death was the result of suicide, no motive for the act is known. He leaves a widow, a daughter, and a son about fifteen years of age. A telegram was sent to his family and some of them were expected Friday evening. In answer to the telegram, however, was received by Coroner Gould late in the afternoon requesting that the body be sent to Boston, and the Coroner had it properly dressed and enoffined and forwarded it Friday night by Pullman.—Portland Press.

Mr. Frank McGrath, of Portland, was found dead in his bed Friday morning. He had been in ill health for some time past, but was not supposed to be dangerously sick when he retired the night before.

Edward Roach was charged Friday, with passing counterfeit silver dollars. He was taken before the U. S. Commissioner. The hearing was postponed until Saturday morning. He was put under $1,000 bonds, and for lack of bail was committed.

Winthrop has achieved a wide reputation as an apple exporting town. Last week 460 barrels of choice fruit were sent away on the cars, and about as many barrels will be sent this week.

Knox.

The Thomaston Herald says that Wednesday night Ed. Haskell, mate of schooner Wm. Penn of Tenant's Harbor, then lying in port, rowed out alone from shore to go on board. As he attempted to climb up the side of the vessel he slipped and fell into the icy water. When he rose the dory was several feet distant, and it was with difficulty that he managed to reach it and to grasp its side. He was now taken with cramp, and could not draw himself into the boat. His situation was most critical, as he could feel himself rapidly stiffening with the cold. Finally the dory drifted to shore, and he struggled to land, where he fell nearly dead to the ground. After a time he succeeded in reaching a house, and his life was saved.

The Rockland Gazette says that Tenant's Harbor has again been startled by the receipt of a letter from some one calling himself the Sarah Meservey murderer. It was written in Boston, January 13th, 1881, and mailed at So. Boston. The receiver of this letter was Edward Elwell, the young man who was knocked down and robbed this winter. The writer states that he is the man who attacked him (Elwell) and also directed that any one who wished, might go to the Meservey house, and in a certain place was some money, which he says he knows of. It seems strange that such a character should be at large, and not be detected in his work (as he calls it), and that these letters should come so often and the writer not be discovered.

An extensive bed of kaolen has been discovered on Spruce creek, in Kittery. Kaolen is a variety of clay used for making porcelain, proceeding from the decomposition of the mineral feldspar. This in making porcelain, is mingled with a fusible earthy matter called petunse.

The idea has recently been advanced that Bright's disease is attributable to the immoderate use of ice water and cold drinks, the fact being cited that the people of this country use 90 per cent. more ice in their drinks than the people of any other country—the inhabitants of Greenland not excepted—and that we have 75 per cent. more of Bright's disease. The wine-drinking countries of Europe are said to be comparatively free from the malady, while in America the progress of the disease, it is asserted, has kept pace with the increased consumption of the ice.

COMPLETE REPUBLICAN HARMONY. PRESIDENT GARFIELD AND ALL THE REPUBLICAN LEADERS IN ENTIRE ACCORD.

[From the Special Wash. Cor. New York Herald.]

The inauguration is happily over, and the new Administration will begin its work with the good will of the whole party. There must, of course, be disappointments, but these will be personal and not political. The Cabinet has but seven members. Nineteen States cast their votes for Mr. Garfield and helped to make him President. Twelve States must necessarily be unrepresented in the Cabinet, and in these States perhaps twelve times twelve prominent men had hopes of a Cabinet place. Such disappointments are inevitable, and they are harmless to a new administration. The important point for President Garfield and for his party is that his Cabinet and his policy are to have the cordial support of all the real leaders of his party, and that whoever sulks will be left to get over his disappointment. * * There is general satisfaction among the party leaders. You need credit no rumors to the contrary. Mr. Conkling, General Logan, Mr. Blaine, Mr. Edmunds and others, all the real leaders of the party, are content, and will be found to give the new administration a complete and hearty support. They will help President Garfield with their counsel and with their support in both houses. They not only believe in the policy he has indicated, but they are satisfied with the Cabinet he has selected, and all rumors and reports to the contrary are false. * * * *

Those who have counted on quarrels and internecine warfare may as well give up that hope. President Garfield is in full and friendly accord with every leader of his party, has been prudent enough to confer fully with all of them and fortunate enough to find them all pleased with his policy, with his ideas and with the persons he proposed to call about him as his constitutional advisers. If at any time he has not been able to gratify the wishes of any of the leaders he has succeeded completely in coming to a perfect and friendly understanding with them, and those most intimate with him say that this has been achieved less by Garfield's tact than by the loyal readiness of all the party leaders to agree to what he believed to be wise and for the best interest of the party. If, therefore, there is any one disappointed and grumbling to-day it is a merely personal disappointment or the failure of desires not in accord with the best interests of the party, and your correspondent repeats, with entire confidence, that not one of the real leaders of the party, neither Mr. Conkling nor Mr. Edmunds, nor General Logan nor any of the others on the list, either in the Senate or in the House, but is in entire harmony and friendship with the President, and means to give him and his administration the strongest and most faithful support. * * * *

In the general belief it is already understood that President Garfield has determined the broad principle on which his Cabinet shall be formed. This is that every prominent section of the party shall have a spokesman, a representative with whom it can freely communicate and who, by his peculiar affiliations, can easily hear complaints, give ear to remonstrances and do what will conduce to the general harmony of the party. When it is added that this policy has the free and full consent of the active and powerful party leaders, that it is adopted with their good will and foreknowledge and will have their support, it is not difficult to see that the change of a name will not be of material importance, and also that President Garfield begins his administration in a way which, as before said, makes his party stronger and gives it more cohesion than it has had in many years. If the Democrats want to win hereafter they cannot do so through any early divisions among the Republicans. They can do so only by converting the country to Democratic principles, and to do that they will have to do some hard work.

WHAT IS SAID OF THE CABINET.

The New York Tribune says the Cabinet, like the inaugural, is all that any earnest and practical Republican could ask. It represents fairly and with strong and clean men every section of the party. It recognizes every strong element, Grant and anti-Grant. The Cabinet is one which the Republicans will heartily approve. It is strong in every sense. It will give the party unity and peace. It will give the country a wholesome Administration.

The Times says: "At the very outset such weakness as there is in the make-up of President Garfield's Cabinet may be traced to the desire to make it a thoroughly representative one, in which all sections of the country find recognition, and all sections of the party are duly considered. * * * On the whole, the new administration starts under the most favorable auspices. With a steady hand and a resolute will, President Garfield has the opportunity of making a record as remarkable for brilliant administrative achievements as for the restoration of national concord."

The World says: "The Presidential mountain in labor has brought forth a litter of Cabinet mice. General Garfield yesterday sent to the Senate the weakest set of names ever made up into a list of a Cabinet."

The Sun calls it a machine made affair.

The Herald speaks favorably of the appointments generally, and especially commends that of Postmaster James.

The Chicago Tribune says: "The composition of the Cabinet will afford general satisfaction. It meets all the requirements of locality, it has a high average of ability, unquestioned integrity, and, in its collective capacity, a very unusual experience of public affairs and know edge of the duties pertaining to the several offices."

The Cincinnati Enquirer says that Garfield, failing to put Foster in his Cabinet, showed ingratitude to friends. Blaine will be the overshadowing power and controlling force.

The Cincinnati Commercial say the Cabinet, on the whole, is a good one, and that it is a fortunate solution of a difficult problem; that James makes the present Cabinet strong at the very point where Hayes' Cabinet was weak; that Garfield has exhibited fine tact and superior judgment in securing such a well-balanced Cabinet.

The Springfield Republican says: "Garfield's Cabinet is not as good as his inaugural. It is mediocre, spotty and full of holes. Blaine, Secretary of State, is the Premier, clearly no other in the Cabinet approaches him in national proportions and personal force.

The Indianapolis Journal says the Cabinet is respectable, but not great. As a whole it does not rise above mediocrity. Senators Blaine and Windom are the only men in it of really national reputation. It does not compare with the original Cabinet of Hayes.

The Hartford Courant says: "We are bound to suppose that President Garfield has selected assistants fit to carry out his policy. We must take this on trust until his Cabinet demonstrates its capacity."

PRESS OPINIONS OF THE INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune, Rep.]

President Garfield's Inaugural Address is short, straight, strong, and sharp, like a Roman sword. There is little adornment and no flourish about it, although graces of expression are not wholly sacrificed to compactness and brevity. * * * The address is admirable. It justifies the high confidence which the people have felt in President Garfield's patriotism and uprightness, and in his ability to propose a wise policy for the government of the Nation. It still remains for him to show whether he possesses the rare tact, the patience, and the practical statesmanship to get things done. If so, the Nation will manifest its gratitude four years hence, as heartily as it now manifests its good-will and confidence.

[From the N. Y. Tribune, Rep.]

The address of Gen. Garfield on taking the oath of office is dignified in tone, and marked by the characteristics which have made him one of the most pleasing and one of the most admired orators of the House. The first half of it is devoted to the consideration of the general subject of the changes wrought in the political system and the political life of the Nation by the successful war for the Union. It shows an earnest and intelligent sympathy with the national cause, and a profound conviction that the course of duty and of safety lies directly in the line of the work accomplished by the war. The President enforces, in an emphatic manner, the essential fact that the struggle for the supremacy of the Nation was a struggle for the complete development of the ideas which lie at the foundation of the American Government, and that its supreme achievement was the destruction of slavery and the establishment of the equal rights, under the law, of the negro race.

[From the N. Y. Herald, Ind.]

The inaugural address of the new President, which we print this morning, is flowing, easy, comprehensive and graceful. It does not rank with Lincoln's addresses, but it would hardly be fair to expect this. Lincoln stands alone—as far above any President who preceded or succeeded him in rhetorical power as did Lord Bacon above his contemporaries. General Garfield, however, is an orator of no mean parts, and, while we look in vain for any of those sentences which belong to the inspirations of eloquence, the address is a State paper of more than ordinary merit. The first criticism that occurs to us is the absence of any sympathy for the South. General Garfield addresses himself to the South with a sternness which Lincoln did not use during the war, and which leaves little doubt that he will be a stalwart President. At the same time a President is always a President, and our Southern friends may find consolation in remembering that Mr. Johnson began his administration with words of fury towards the South and ended it as we all know. The assertion of the President's intention to do all in his power to secure the suffrage to the negroes in the South will meet the approval of the country.

[From the Boston Journal, Rep.]

In his inaugural address, President Garfield has outlined the policy of his Administration and at the same time announced the main features in the creed of the Republican party. He claims that the supremacy of the nation and its laws should be no longer a subject of debate. It has been settled "in the high court of war by a decree from which there is no appeal." The emancipation of the slave was necessary in order to rid the nation from danger. The conferring of citizenship upon him was necessary because a disfranchised peasantry in a Republic is an inconsistency, a wrong, and consequently a constant and great danger. In taking this ground President Garfield vindicates not only the purpose of those who gave the ballot to the negro, but the wisdom and justice of their action.

[From the Boston Advertiser, Rep.]

President Garfield has outlined the policy of his Administration, and at the same time announced the main features in the creed of the Republican party.

[From the Boston Post, Dem.]

The general tone and spirit of this address is patriotic, and little can be found in it but what will commend itself to the favor of the men of all parties. The subjects treated of, in the main, were appropriate to the occasion, and in point of style, this inaugural will compare favorably with the best specimens of preceding inaugural addresses. It is pleasing to notice that the President in recognizing the supremacy of the nation, emphasizes the fact that this rests upon the Constitution, and that he measures his own duty by it.

[From the Boston Herald, Ind.]

President Garfield has justified the anticipation of his truest friends in the spirit, the scope and the sentiments of his inaugural address. He has met a great opportunity like a man sure of his ground, resolute in his purpose and full of a high faith in the people.

[From the Springfield Republican, Ind.]

President Garfield's inaugural is good. On the sectional issue it is more than good—it is grand. If speaks to the South and to the country on the highest plane of statesmanship, and touches deftly the chords of National feeling which Lincoln swept so eloquently, but in vain, twenty years ago. His attitude must make a profound impression upon the country, upon the North and the South alike. He holds up the only true remedy for race discords and dangers. Conciliation may be obscured for a time; temporary excitements may cloud over the clear shining of this policy, but it must triumph in the end. Inaugurated by President Hayes, newly avowed by President Garfield against the reactionary tendency of the campaign on which he was elected, it marks the true and substantial progress toward national unity.

[From the Providence Journal, Rep.]

It is impossible to peruse this address without the feeling that Gen. Garfield purposes an administration of good will, energy and devotion to all that is vital to material, social and political progress and stability. It is temperate, yet firm; it is as frank as it is dignified; it will add to the reputation of its author because a renewed display of his knowledge and patriotism.

[From the N. Y. Staats Zeitung, Ger. Dem.]

Mr. Garfield's moderation in discussing the Southern question, and the tone of all his remarks in reference to the duties of the National Government and its relation to the States, must give general satisfaction outside the circles of extreme Republicans. His treatment of the financial question is thoroughly satisfactory.

[From the N. Y. Sun, Dem.]

The inaugural address of Gen. Garfield has the merit of frankness. Gen. Garfield evidently thinks the farmers of the country are next in competency to the ignorant negroes; that they are incapable of taking care of themselves, and that it is the duty of the National Government to teach them when to sow and when to reap, when to harness their horses and yoke their oxen; how to shear their sheep and when to gallop their geese to water. A strong paternal Government is what Gen. Garfield, as we understand him, proposes to give us.

[From the Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier, Dem.]

His treatment of the Southern question is broad, and on the whole, statesmanlike. We thank President Garfield for the admission, so rare in these days, that the responsibility for slavery did not rest upon the South alone. Whether we live in the North or South we are all Americans, and when we differ in opinion in applying the principles of our Government there need be no animosity while we remain equally attached to our common country and equally determined to uphold and maintain republican institutions in their strength, their symmetry and their integrity.

[From the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, Dem.]

We believe that in Mr. Hayes's successor the Republic will find an equally acceptable Chief Magistrate. Gen. Garfield's first act in his conference with President Hayes has demonstrated his conservatism and given augury of his future course. There is no reason to suppose that the country will be disturbed in any manner by the change of administration.

The New York Herald says: "Mr. Blaine will be the leading spirit. His office will be the Premiership. He will be more the Premier than any Secretary of State since the time of Pierce. The Senator from Maine takes an office which means little more than the honor of directing the foreign policy of the government. He has with him men with every one of whom he is in entire personal sympathy. The positive members of the new Cabinet are all Blaine men. The negative men are supporters of Conkling. It is idle to ignore this positive influence."

The Boston Journal's Washington special says: "Hon. J. H. Manley left here at two P. M. Sunday, carrying the resignation of Senator Blaine, which will this day be laid before the Legislature on Tuesday, the 8th."

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.

A Severe Surgical Operation. It is Endured without taking Ether. Subject, Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, N. Y.

(From the correspondence of the Kingston, N. Y., Freeman.)

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help.

He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverance.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weakness and diseases of the blood. One dollar a bottle. Your druggist has it.

Legislative Proceedings.

The Session Likely to be Prolonged.

(Special to the Whig and Courier.)

AUGUSTA, March 7.

There is a good deal of work that remains to be accomplished by the law-makers before final adjournment takes place. On account of the election of a successor to Senator Blaine final adjournment cannot possibly occur before the 16th inst., and there are quite a number of the most important measures of the session which have to come up for discussion, it is not among the impossibilities that the session will be prolonged until the fourth week in March.

The Legislative and Congressional Apportionments.

The report of the Committee on Legislative Apportionment will undoubtedly excite considerable debate when it is considered, and even should it pass and go to the Governor there is every reason to believe that he will veto it under any circumstances. In such an event there is little or no prospect of the sufficient two-thirds vote to pass it over the Governor's veto, and so there will be further delay in debating it over again and making the apportionment acceptable to all concerned. Many of the Republican leaders express a decided feeling of dissatisfaction with the proposed apportionment of representative districts, and express a decided preference for the apportionment of 1871, as they find on examination that the several Representatives then from Republican districts have been given to Democratic districts, and cite for instance the proposed apportionment for Androscoggin County. Then there is the Congressional apportionment, which, up to date, the committee have not touched, there being a difference of opinion as to whether the Legislature has a right to make such apportionment until Congress furnishes the basis. It has been suggested that a conditional apportionment might be made, which many claim would be unprecedented. A gentleman who is looking into the matter informs me that he has found but one conditional apportionment for members of Congress in this State, and that one provided for a certain number of districts, and that if Congress should apportion to this State more or less than apportioned by the Legislature that then the Governor should order an election at large for the number of representatives given by Congress, leaving the formation of districts to be made after the first election of Congressmen. Whether the present Legislature will follow this single precedent and leave the matter to Gov. Plaisted of ordering an election of Congressmen without regard to districts or sections is a matter for serious consideration and may involve delay in adjournment. Possibly it may occasion an adjourned session of the Legislature to next year.

A Democratic Lawyer's Opinion Concerning the Law Fixing the Compensation of Senators and Representatives.

In this connection it is interesting to state that a Democratic lawyer of high repute gives it as his opinion that the members of this Legislature, under the law as it now stands, will be entitled to not only receive their pay for this session, but also to receive the same pay next year whether a session of the Legislature is holden or not. His argument is that the Constitution provides that "Senators and Representatives shall receive such compensation as shall be established by law." The statute laws, fixing the pay of Senators and Representatives, has not been changed by the Legislature, and still reads: "Each member of the Senate and House of Representatives shall be paid a salary of $150 for the regular annual session of the Legislature." Hence the members are entitled to $150 annually. On the other hand it is claimed by good legal authority that the Constitution still provides that members of the Legislature shall receive such pay as is established by law, and that the law still provides that members shall receive $150 for each annual session, but makes no provision for any pay for biennial sessions, and the present session being the first biennial session under the amended Constitution, it is a grave question whether members can receive any compensation.

Biennial vs. Annual Sessions.

The proposed constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, the railroad tax bill, Mr. Strout's equity bill, and several other measures, are likely to occupy much longer time in their consideration than is looked for by the average member. I may also say that there is a decided feeling, which is participated in by members of both parties, to change biennial sessions of the Legislature back to annual sessions and it is not unlikely that this may create an extended debate.

The Insane Hospital Hearing—The Right Man in the Right Place.

The hearings before the Insane Hospital Committee relating to the management of that institution, will be brought to a close this week. A voluminous amount of testimony has been taken, but nothing has been elicited to lessen the confidence of the people in the present management of the hospital. So far as Mr. Lakin, the Steward and Treasurer is concerned, the investigation has not only shown him to be the right man for the place he fills, but that the State should increase his salary, which will undoubtedly be recommended by the committee. It is no secret that Mr. Lakin has already received an offer of $2,500 a year from Hon. J. R. Bodwell of Hallowell, to act as his farm Superintendent. The State gives Mr. Lakin $900 a year, and under his admirable management thousands of dollars have been saved to the State. The question whether the State can afford to lose the services of such a man as Mr. Lakin, is one worthy of more than ordinary consideration.

THE SPRING ELECTIONS.

Republican Victories in Lewiston and Auburn.

LEWISTON, March 7. M. T. Ludden, Republican, is elected Mayor of this city by 1129 to 683 for Sanborn, Dem.; 86 for Andrews, Greenbacker, and 21 for Smith, Prohibition. There were 230 scattering votes. The Republicans have five wards.

The vote of Auburn was: Woodman, Republican, 836; Larn, Dem., 430; Foss, Greenbacker, 225; Barnum, Prohibition, 24. The Republicans carry four wards. No election in one.

William Senter, Republican, Re-Elected Mayor of Portland.

PORTLAND, Me., March 7. William Senter, Republican, is elected Mayor by about seven hundred majority. The tallies in all but ward one, gives Senter, Republican, 2,369; Andrews, Fusion, 1,666; Ames, straight Greenback, 77. Last year the total vote stood, Senter, 3,354; Fox, Fusion, 2,117; scattering, 13; Senter's majority then being 1,224. The election was very quiet and sluggish.

Second Despatch.

In the election to-day the Republicans elect Mayor Senter and five Aldermen. The Democrats one, and no choice in Ward Two on any of the ticket. The Republicans also elect Councilmen in the above Wards, and one each in Ward One and Fourteen on one Councilman in Ward One.

The Temperance Candidate Elected Mayor of Gardiner.

GARDINER, Me., March 7. Joseph E. Ladd, the temperance candidate, was to-day elected Mayor, receiving 483 votes; William Perkins, Republican, 385; scattering, 63.

Re-election of Thomas W. Hyde, Republican, Mayor of Bath.

BATH, Me., March 7. The municipal election to-day passed off quietly. For Mayor, Thomas W. Hyde, Republican, was re-elected, receiving 579 votes; Reuben Hunt, temperance, 280; Washington Gilbert, Democrat, 209. The city council is Republican, with the exception of Galen C. Moses, Democrat, elected councilman in ward six.

The Election in Rockland—The City Republican.

ROCKLAND, March 7. The municipal election in this city to-day was very quiet only 1132 votes being cast, against 1601 last spring. Col. John S. Case, Republican, was re-elected Mayor, receiving 680 votes to 422 for George Gregory, 71 for G. A. Lynde and 9 scattering. Politics did not enter into the contest. Mr. Ames who was nominated at a Citizens caucus Thursday evening, declined, and George Gregory was nominated in his stead. The Greenbackers nominated and supported Mr. Lynde and the city council. The Republicans will have a majority in both branches, though there was no choice for Alderman and Councilman in ward one. The only question agitated at the election was the refunding of the city debt at a lower rate of interest. A large majority of the city council, together with the Mayor, are in favor of refunding, though there is some difference of opinion as to how it can be brought about.

SWAN'S SUCCESSOR.

A Representative from Minot Elected.

LONDON, March 7. The following are additional particulars of the earthquake at Casamicciola. The first shock occurred at 1.30 Friday afternoon, the second an hour later. The whole upper part of the town was destroyed and two of the warm bath establishments were seriously damaged. The royal steamers Naguna, Pagona and Esplorature have arrived there from Naples with soldiers and physicians.

The soldiers have rescued many from the ruins. The population have fled to the surrounding country and along the seacoast.

The government is sending food from Naples. The King and the Minister of the Interior have sent a contribution for the relief of the sufferers.

The second and fatal shock lasted seven seconds, accompanied by a subterranean thunder; then came a crash of falling houses accompanied by the shrieks of the victims.

The loss of life will reach 200. The damage to house property is a million francs. Prof. Polmien says he thinks the catastrophe was due to some local phenomenon, possibly to a sudden sinking of the ground in consequence of the corrosive active of the mineral springs.

NAPLES, March 7. Another shock of earthquake occurred at Casamicciola Monday. Eleven more bodies were found. Latest reports show 216 persons killed and 179 injured by the earthquake.

FACTS ARE STUBBORN THINGS; but the fact that DR. BULLOCK'S KIDNEY REMEDY, "NEPHRETICUM," always accomplishes what is claimed for it, is so well established that every sufferer with Kidney disease, or Urinary trouble, can feel that in its use he has a fact completely substantiated. Try it if needing such a medicine, and add another to the large number who have been benefitted by its use. 1wmar8

BOSTON SHOUTS.

The Buffalo Republican says: "All the Rage!"—the new comedy over which Boston has been shouting for the past few weeks, was produced at the Academy of Music last evening, and proved one of the most irresistible bits of fun which have appeared here in some time.

TO ACCOMODATE THE PUBLIC.

The proprietors of that immensely popular remedy, Kidney-Wort, in recognition of the claims of the public which has so liberally patronized them, have prepared a liquid preparation of that remedy for the special accomodation of those who from any reason dislike to prepare it for themselves. It is very concentrated, and, as the dose is small, it is more easily taken by many. It has the same effectual action in all diseases of the kidneys, liver or bowels. —Home and Farm. d&w1w mar5

THAT'S A FACT.

A man can't work unless he feels well. The hard times have made plenty of people sick simply by worrying them almost out of their wits about money and business. Trouble of mind has brought on trouble of body. There is indigestion, heaviness in the head, and all that. Are you afflicted in this way? Go and invest One Dollar for a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," and it will make a new man of you. It takes the bile out of the blood, and is worth a trip to Rondout, N. My wife has used the COCOAINE with equally as great results.

The nurse informed them that the baby had a fit and Mr. Cummings immediately went for a physician who was soon at the bedside of the little sufferer. The child continued to grow worse and two other physicians were called, but despite the united efforts of the three the little spirit returned to Him who gave it. The bereaved parents will have the sympathy of all in this hour of affliction.

NEW CARS. The Maine Central Railroad Company are having several new passenger cars built at the Wason Manufacturing Company's works, Springfield, Mass., to accommodate the increasing travel over their road. The first one, No. 63, was brought to Portland, Saturday, and was the object of many admiring remarks from railroad men and others who saw it. It is finished in the latest style throughout and contains many new improvements. The trimmings inside are solid mahogany. Among the new features are the arm rests on each end of the seats, new style double hanging lamps and patent shutters. The ventilators are after a new pattern, and in fact the car throughout is new in style and arrangement. Five others are being built and will be put on the through trains between Portland and this city the first of May.

THE GRAND TRUNK AND GREAT WESTERN RAILWAYS. Saturday's Boston Journal says: Several efforts have heretofore been made in London to bring about an amalgamation of the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railways of Canada, but they have always failed on account of the jealousy existing between the several officers of the two lines and the inability to decide who is to be the head of the consolidated roads. The greatest opposition to such a scheme came from the directors and managers of the Great Western, who feared that the Grand Trunk would get the best of the bargain. They claimed that although the Grand Trunk has by long odds the greatest mileage of road, yet their line was the most profitable and consequently an amalgamation would help to increase the profits of the Grand Trunk. It is understood, however, that lately the Great Western people have changed their minds, and at a late meeting of the stockholders such amalgamation was spoken of very favorably and strongly urged by some of the directors and stockholders. It is given out that a meeting between the stockholders of the Grand Trunk and Great Western roads is to be held soon to see whether a consolidation of the two roads cannot be made now. The preliminaries of such an arrangement it is claimed have already been agreed upon. It has been claimed that a consolidation of these two roads would effect a saving in expenses, and gains by avoiding competition, of a million dollars, which is rather a high estimate. The two roads together would make one of the largest corporations in the world, with nearly 2300 miles of road and liabilities of some $220,000,000.

FOR THE LADIES. Norwegian jewelry is growing fashionable. Double ribbons are the novelty for strings. The spring Tuscan braids are closely woven. One of the new colors is almost like the serpentine stone. The mutton leg sleeve is certainly coming again, it is said. Only one kind of flower is to be used on a bonnet this summer. The light summer serges have deep borders in cashmere colors. Costumes are still to be parti-colored, says the latest Paris news. Maize yellow seems to be superseding cream color in ribbons and silks. Rough straw hats are to be trimmed with diagonally striped ribbons. Oblong bars like lace pins are used for buttons on some of the spring suits. Point Nemours is the name of a new sort of lace which resembles Mechlin. Frills of plaited lace and shirrings of satin are placed under the brim of hats. Plaid mummy cloths with silk blended with the wool are shown for summer wear. Spring gowns of cashmere have tight fitting Newmarket coats of the same material. Spanish jewelry in leaf designs is very fashionable for wearing with Spanish lace. Very wide ribbon and yards and yards of it will be needed to trim bonnets for the summer. Small shells are the latest additions to the lists of things considered ornamental by milliners. Red plush flowers and leaves make the prettiest nosegays to wear at the throat among white lace. Small feathers are crowded upon the large hats in such profusion as almost to conceal the brims. Light brocade evening dresses are made up with scarfs of China crape, as well as with embroidery on illusion. Mahogany red and condor brown are the new tints which are expected to gain the greatest popularity this summer.

THE OLD TINKER. The Augusta Journal says: Back in December the Journal had several items in relation to an itinerant tinker, who for a long term of years has tramped the State. Saturday we saw the individual in flesh and blood. An old, bent man, with a flowing beard and kindly eye—looking a little like an allegorical picture of Winter—stepped into the Journal counting room. It was Charles Barnum, who for forty winters has tramped over Maine, with a kit of tinkers' tools upon his shoulders. He owns a farm at Passadumkeag, on the line of the European and North American railroad. He cultivates his little patch of land in summer, and in the winter journeys from place to place plying his honorable vocation. Mr. Barnum is a man of considerable native talent and some culture. Domestic troubles clouded his early life, but did not sour his disposition. The old fellow is quite communicative. "I am a free thinker, 85 years old last November," says the tinker. "In early life I studied the outlines of literature and science; but, bless your soul, boy, you can get nothing but outlines in this world." The tinker is quite a poet, and in his eastern cabin has a trunk full of verses. His latest effusion is a letter to a friend of his—a lady who is a believer in the doctrines of the Second Adventists. It begins:

"If I go first above the skies,
I'll serenade you when you rise."

Mr. Barnum starts for Vassalboro' Monday on his trip to Bangor and beyond. May the fates decree a kindly future for the cheerful old man.

AMUSEMENTS.

To-Night.

Snelbaker's Majestic Consolidation will arrive on the Pullman train this morning, and stop at the Bangor House. To-night they will make their only appearance in Norombega. Seats should be secured during the day by those who wish to avoid the inevitable crowd at the door. The brass band connected with the troupe will make a street parade during the day. The Springfield Republican says:

Hames' Opera-house was tested to its utmost capacity last evening, over 1500 people being packed like sardines in a box, the attraction being Col. T. R. Snelbaker's Majestic Consolidation, who promised the largest and best variety bill of the season, and fulfilled the promise to the letter, there being over fifty artists in the company, and a better and more enjoyable vaudeville has never been presented in Springfield.

FRANK MAYO.

There was a large sale of seats yesterday for next Thursday's representation of "Davy Crockett," which proved beyond a doubt that Mr. Mayo will be greeted as he deserves, by a large audience and one composed largely of the culture and refinement of our city. As the Philadelphia Day observes: "Mr. Mayo has conceived a character in "Davy Crockett" that stands alone in its strength, as does the "Rip Van Winkle of Mr. Joseph Jefferson."

NOTES.

The "All the Rage" combination in Norombega next Monday evening. The company with one or two exceptions is the same as that of last season.

In the last scene of "Joshua Whitcomb" the ladies of the company wear diamonds purchased by Manager Hill of the Duke of Brunswick for the sum of $13,000.

An exchange says "Mr. Mayo as 'Davy Crocket,' does his best acting with his eyes. It is not absolutely necessary to hear him. His eyes speak and you see what he must say before he utters it."

The latest successful comic opera "Olivette," which is now being played in all of the large cities, with a success only equalled by "Pinafore," will be presented in this city Wednesday evening, March 16th, by the Laurent-Corelli Troupe, now in their sixth week in the Boston Gaiety.

A FIREBUG.

DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO BURN M. LINCOLN'S SHINGLE SHED.

The Fire Well Under Way When Discovered by Officer McCoy.

The Guilty Wretch Has a Narrow Escape.

At about half past one o'clock this morning as Officer McCoy was going down Exchange street, he saw a man run up through one of the arches, pass across the street and disappear between two of the buildings below Hancock street. As this looked rather suspicious, the officer gave chase, but the man had a long start and succeeded in getting away. The officer then thought it would be a good plan to look down around the arch and see if anything was wrong, and was startled to see a fire burning in M. Lincoln's shingle shed. It was but the work of a moment to force the door and when Officer McCoy entered the shed a brisk fire was burning in the end next to the stream. He promptly threw the shingles out on the ice and thus saved a serious conflagration. As soon as the fire was extinguished the officer notified the other members of the force and they went up on Hancock street, where they found two drunken fellows and took them down to the station house, although it is doubtful if they can be connected with the fire. This is one of the most desperate attempts to destroy property that has ever been made in this city, and we hope the guilty wretch will be secured. Had Officer McCoy discovered the fire five minutes later it would have been impossible to check the flames.

Decision in Law.

The following decision has been received by Ruel Smith, Esq., Clerk of the Eastern Law District:

WALDO COUNTY CASE.

George Jewell vs. Atwood W. Harding & al. "Motion overruled. Exceptions sustained, so far as to allow judgment on the verdict for possession without any judgment for mesne profits. Judgment not to be entered before the next term at nisi prius, so as to permit any motion to be heard for a delay of judgment till a pending bill in equity is decided."

This instrument does not contain a declaration of a dry, naked or passive trust, such as will prevent a recovery for possession in an action at law by the trustee against the cestui que trust.

Such an instrument is an equitable but not a legal deed. In equity, the seller can be made to reform

How to Cure a Sore Throat. Buy one ounce of camphorated oil and five cents' worth of chlorate of potash. When any soreness appears in the throat put the potash in a half tumblerful of water, and with it gargle the throat thoroughly. Rub the throat with the camphorated oil at night before going to bed, and also pin around the throat a small strip of woolen flannel. This is a simple, cheap and sure remedy.

Hens often have a habit of biting and pulling their feathers, and gradually eating them until their bodies are bare. This practice, it is believed, is occasioned by a want of salt, as when salted food is given them they make no attempt to continue the habit. Salt pork, chopped fine, and fed twice a week, has been adopted with success, while others put a teaspoonful of salt with two quarts of meal on shorts moistened, well mixed, and feed it about twice every week. Fowls, like human beings, to be healthy, must have a certain allowance of salt.

A correspondent of the Homestead writes as follows on the profit of hens: "Poultry keeping is properly a branch of farming, and has many times proved to be more profitable than any other stock a farmer can keep. The production of eggs is very profitable, if properly managed. By raising only chicks and hatching them out in March and April, the pullets will commence to lay about the first of October, and by providing comfortable quarters in winter, with the right kind of feed, will lay all winter. Any respectable hen will lay one hundred and fifty eggs in a year. A pullet beginning to lay Oct. 1, will lay six dozen eggs by the first of February, which will bring thirty-five cents per dozen anywhere in Connecticut. Before she is eighteen months old she will lay six dozen more at fifteen cents per dozen, amounting to three dollars altogether. The feed for the fowl for eighteen months will not cost one dollar, leaving a net profit of two dollars and a careass worth from seventy-five cents to one dollar, besides."

Hundreds have testified to the Benefit they have derived from their use in the cure of Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Paralysis, Sleeplessness and Indigestion.

It is a Fully Established Fact, Based on Actual Experience, and There is No Kind of Doubt but They Will Cure These Diseases.

Dr. C. W. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills are prepared expressly to cure Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Paralysis, Sleeplessness and Indigestion or Dyspepsia, and will cure any case, no matter how obstinate, if properly used. They are not a cure-all, but only for these special diseases. They contain no opium, morphine or quinine, and are not a purgative, but regulate the bowels and cures constipation by curing or removing the causes of it. They have a charming effect upon the nerves and a lovely, quieting effect upon the nervous system, simply by feeding it ten thousand hungry eyes, in some cases; starving absorbents. They make or create nerve matter and give power, force and buoyancy to the nerves, and in that way increase mental force, endurance and brilliancy of mind. Nobody that has a nervous system should neglect to take them for three months in each year, simply as a nerve food, if for no other purpose.
